

Curriculum Vitae

Goal of undergraduate teaching:

- Prepare the student for problem based learning and solving and this happens through showing similar problems occurring throughout history; instructing how these problems were solved and encouraging students to find the solution.
- Adopting excellent techniques for delivering the information to students and making sure that students are on the right track by continuously evaluating them.
- Continuously updating the curriculum and the methods of teaching the world - especially emphasizing recent issues such as globalization – modernity – and modern political views in the Middle East region.
- Encouraging students to participate in students clubs to share experience and in formations with other universities across country.
- Encouraging research, as it is well known that postgraduate program is highly analytical and conclusive.
